Conductors will cancel one number for each trip: odd numbers going South or West and even numbers going North or East.

Whenever a change of conductors is made during a trip on this ticket, the first conductor will punch the number and the second the X or O within the same space. When the entire trip is made with one conductor he will punch both the number and the X or O. The numbers on the coupons must be punched in consecutive order.

Accounting Department by the conductor when fully cancelled.
